ACCESSORIES

convenient storage and functional design

Engineered to fit each specific Toyota's cargo area, Cargo Nets can accommodate items of various shapes and sizes to help ensure they don't shift around or tip over, protecting the vehicle's cargo area from damage and spills while aiding owners in staying organized.

Available in multiple styles (depending upon vehicle application) including envelope, spider, cargo bed, seatback and rear door, all Genuine Toyota Cargo Nets feature durable black nylon webbing/netting that offers numerous ways to help secure cargo. For instance, the envelope-style net offers a pocket-like compartment for securing items in a vertical position while the spider net includes an elastic bungee cord border with hooks that firmly attach to factory provided D-rings in the vehicle's floor.

FJ Cruiser and Tundra CrewMax owners have the option of adding unique, model specific Cargo Nets. Featuring a pane-style pocket, the FJ Cruiser's rear door storage net is designed to extend across the top or bottom of the vehicle's rear door, providing an additional option for storing and securing items such as maps, flashlights, cables, first aid kit or groceries. The sturdy nylon netting material holds items securely in place and keeps them from tipping over or falling out of the vehicle when rear hatch is opened. The FJ's rear door can accommodate up to two of these storage nets.

Designed specifically for the Tundra CrewMax, the set of two seat back cargo nets feature simple, secure attachment to the back of the rear seats. They add to the vehicle's utility and provide an out of site area for storing smaller items and valuables. Featuring a zippered side opening at the outboard sides of the rear seats, each net is easily accessible by simply tilting the rear seats forward or folding the seats down.

The FJ Cruiser's rear door storage net features a plastic frame with an attached net that installs to the vehicle's rear door using included hardware (some drilling is required).
